THEIR STORY

For newlyweds Tawni Reynolds (24 and an interior designer) and Matthew Brown (27 and a business executive), a “light, bright and colorful” affair was essential. “We wanted everything to encompass the feeling of joy and celebration,” Tawni says of hosting a daytime brunch wedding filled with breathtaking florals and nods to the couple’s shared love of travel. Inside the airy, whitewashed venue, custom wood signs bearing the couple’s favorite bible verses flanked the aisle. —NC

A botanical partition wall of garlands and tulle concealed Tawni before her grand entrance.

"My great-grandmother left each of us grandchildren a handkerchief for our wedding that she made herself," Tawni says of wrapping the sentimental gift around her bouquet. Mini quiche tarts, chicken and waffles and assorted biscuits and jams were served during brunch, along with scones, pastries and gourmet coffee.

A personalized globe guestbook captured the couple's sense of wanderlust.

Guests sipped champagne cocktails from a mimosa bar, which was marked by a balloon arch and laser-cut sign. As the celebration came to a close, the couple danced to "Crash Into Me" by Dave Matthews Band, a song they listened to on repeat during their first trip together.
